

NARPM® Women's Council of Property Managers Sponsorship Opportunities

November
2021
Session

Creating awareness and innovation for women in the property management industry

Consider sponsoring our November session on Tuesday, November 16, The Art of Shedding What No Longer Serves You, with Jessica Zweig.

Helping NARPM members with managing work and personal growth is one of the purposes of the new NARPM® Women's Council of Property Managers. Members of the Council are property managers who are committed to the mission of developing women leaders in the property management profession.

In 2021, the Council will hold an event for members at least once a quarter that works to enhance the mission of the organization. All NARPM professional members will be invited to events (women and men).

In support of the work of the Council and to provide an opportunity for our Affiliates and Partners to be part of this new initiative, we're offering the following sponsorship options:
