

NARPM® Women's Council of Property Managers Sponsorship Opportunities 2023

Creating awareness and innovation for women in the property management industry

According to the SHRM (Society for Human Resource Management): "Every organization—and that means the men and women who run companies—must do more to ensure that women have an equal opportunity to lead. Greater representation of women on boards of directors is critical. Boards with at least one woman are likely to crush the competition, according to a Business Insider article. Diversity matters!"

Helping NARPM members with managing work and personal growth is one of the purposes of the new NARPM® Women's Council of Property Managers. Members of the Council are property managers who are committed to the mission of developing women leaders in the property management profession.

The Council will hold an event for members at least once a quarter that works to enhance the mission of the organization. All NARPM professional members will be invited to events (women and men).

To support the work of the Council and provide an opportunity for our Affiliates and Partners to be part of this new initiative, we're offering the following sponsorship options:
