21	We got alot out of this and within a week has video up and running on our website
22	Open-to-View in NZ has been doing this the past 10 years with property listings for sale, where you can take a virtual tour of the property on line. This isn't new in NZ. When he showed the video of one of his listings where the Police has arrested his tenants for running quite an elaborate drug factory in the large double garage. Surely if he was a good property manager he would have picked this up with his quarterly inspections of the property?
23	Good to have something new which can be put into practice.
